JCI

JUNIOR CHAMBER INTERNATIONAL

CANADA

JCI is a membership-based non-profit organization of young active citizens ages 18 to 40 in over 100 countries who are dedicated to creating positive change in their communities.

JCI members take ownership of their communities by identifying problems and targeting solutions through community projects.

JCI is not about what you get, it's about what you give. Motivated people join JCI to collaborate with other passionate individuals and see the impact of real change.

The different kinds of projects and programs that JCI Canada local chapters do to create positive change, solve problems and create an impact are innumerable.

Whether it's helping local entrepreneurs start socially responsible businesses, cleaning up the environment, exchanging cultures with people from around the world, building a hospital in a needy area, JCI members are responding to the challenges they see and building a better future.

JCI members also receive training in how to run effective meetings, presentation skills, networking and effective speaking.

Active involvement in a local chapter is the primary vehicle for an individual to explore the opportunities offered by JCI.

JCI Canada prides itself on offering the following four areas of opportunity:

- Individual Development
- Business Development
- Community Development
- International Development

The mix of programs and projects used to deliver these opportunities varies between local chapters based on the members' preferences. Skills learned through working on projects or through training are transferable to your work-life and will contribute to your business success.

JCI Canada holds an annual national convention where awards are handed out for programs and one-time projects and individual achievement showcasing the wide variety of activities the JCI Canada chapters have undertaken during the year.

Membership in JCI also offers you the opportunity of meeting members from across the world. There are a number of international conferences you can attend throughout the year. In addition to seeing another part of the world, you can take advantage of more training and fellowship.

Are you passionate and motivated to bring positive change to your community, your country and yourself? If you are, JCI Canada is the organization for you.
